DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This Office action addresses claims 23-29, 74, and 75. The claims are newly rejected under 35 USC 103, but this rejection was not necessitated by amendment. This action is non-final.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 23-29, 74, and 75 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lessing et al (U.S. Patent 5,641,585).

The reference teaches a miniature ceramic fuel cell that is supported on a consumer device such as a mobile telephone (see Fig. 1). As shown in Figures 1 and 2, both the fuel and ambient air are pumped to the fuel cell using pumps (22, 26). The fuel is contained in a tank (18) that is mounted on the consumer (see Fig. 1). Regarding claim 25, the fuel cell is operable on hydrogen (see col. 4, line 63). Regarding claims 24, 28, 74, and 75, the pumps are capable of being controlled in the claimed manner.

The reference does not expressly teach that the fuel tank is a module that “can be inserted into the consumer” as recited in claim 23.

However, the invention as a whole would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made because the artisan would be motivated to use such a removable fuel tank in the system of Lessing. It is apparent that the fuel tank of Lessing contains a fixed volume fuel. As such, when the fuel supply is depleted, it would be expedient to be able to simply replace the fuel tank. Therefore, the artisan would have motivation to use a removable fuel tank. Further, it has been held that making integrally connected elements separable from each other is generally not sufficient to distinguish a claim over the prior art. See In re Dulberg, 289 F.2d 522, 523, 129 USPQ 348, 349 (CCPA 1961); MPEP 2144.04.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant’s arguments filed May 18, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive insofar as they are applicable to the present rejection. Applicant asserts that since the claims are not anticipated by the reference, which the Examiner acknowledges, they are therefore allowable. However, the claims are believed to be obvious over the reference for the reasons outlined above. As such, the claims are still not believed to be distinguished over Lessing et al.
